We’re Making Our Way Back To San Jose!
Join us for the Labs21 2012 Annual Conference, an event where designers, builders, and operators of sustainable laboratories and high-tech facilities can share the latest technologies and lessons learned.

• Answer the call! The Call for Presenters is open now through March 23. Submit your abstract to share your innovative projects with the I2SL Community.

• Reserve your booth soon to save $500. Technology and Services Fair vendors can save $500 by reserving booths early, so don’t delay. Introduce your technologies, systems, and services to more than 700 conference attendees by registering for the Technology and Services Fair.

• Wanted: The Sustainable Laboratory of Tomorrow...Today. I2SL is seeking sponsors interested in giving facility designers of tomorrow the opportunity of a lifetime: designing a real laboratory in the U.S. Virgin Islands as part of the International Sustainable Laboratory Student Design Competition. Sponsors will receive prominent recognition at the Labs21 2012 Annual Conference, as well as extensive international promotion throughout the year.
